

VOELPEL BOY SET FREE BY GRAND JURY.

No Indictment Found Against the Boy Accused of Killing His Mother.

VOTE WAS UNANIMOUS.

Voelpel Says He Has Been Hounded By the Police and Fears to Remain in New York.

John Voelpel, seventeen years old, was released from the Tombs to-day.
The Grand Jury having failed to indict him on the charge of killing his mother.
Failure to indict was reported to Recorder Goff.

Recorder Goff had Voelpel brought over from the Tombs in the afternoon.
He told the boy the Grand Jury had failed to find an indictment. Then Voelpel was discharged from custody.

The boy wept, and after shaking hands with a number of friends who were waiting, left for Staten Island.

Voelpel has been in the Tombs since March 12, the enforced companion of thieves and other criminals. He has held aloof, however, from the majority of the other prisoners, but there have been those who forced their society upon him. Inmates of prisons have little choice of their associates.

Although at the time of the boy's arrest the police of the Charles street station asserted they would have no trouble in convincing the Grand Jury that Voelpel had slain his mother, they have failed to do so. In the District Attorney's Office to-day it was admitted that the evidence presented by Police Capt. Martens and his detectives was of the flimsiest character.

Grand Jury Unanimous.
The Grand Jury, it was said, was unanimous in voting to dismiss the charge against the boy. It is not probable that the case will be submitted to another Grand Jury.

Since his arrest Voelpel has been in a cell on the third tier of the boys' prison in the Tombs. The keepers say his conduct in prison has been exemplary.

An Evening World reporter carried the news of the Grand Jury's decision to the boy this morning.

"I have kept up my spirits, knowing that I would come out on top," Voelpel exclaimed. "Right will always prevail.
I am innocent and there could be no other outcome. The police knew that I was innocent, yet they looked me up.
Since my arrest they have done nothing to solve the mystery surrounding my mother's murder."

"Where will you go after your release?" was asked.

"I really don't know, but I think I will go down to Port Richmond, S. I., and spend a few weeks with my father's people. They have stuck to me through all my trouble."

Sick of New York.
"The treatment I have received has made me heartily sick of New York. I would like to go West or some place to forget what I have passed through. I suppose if I remain here I'll be hounded by the police."

Voelpel's mother was found dead in her apartments over a store, at Christopher and Hudson streets, the morning of Feb. 14. There were a score or more knife wounds on her body. She had kept a news stand in the corner and was considered well-to-do. The boy's arrest was made by Capt. Martens after he had told several alleged conflicting stories.

QUEER MIX-UP IN IDENTIFICATION.

Body Buried as Jacob Reittman Is Now Believed to Be that of Missing Patrick Mc-Ginn.

It is now believed that a body recently taken from the Morgue and buried as Jacob Reittman was really that of Patrick McGinn.

The body was found in the Harlem River at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street on May 22. It was identified on that day by George Zoelke, of No.
1003 First avenue, as that of Jacob Reittman, who had been missing from his home since April 23. The body was interred in St. Michael's Cemetery on Long Island.

George H. Farrington, of No. 760 Westchester avenue, called at the Morgue to-day and said after examining a photograph of the body and the clothing that it was the body of Patrick McGinn, formerly a farmer, of Lee County, Ill., but who lately lived at No.
233 Third avenue. With Farrington were McGinn's two sisters, who also identified the photograph and clothing.
They said that their brother had been missing since May 12.

The clothing was again searched and a card was found bearing the address of G. H. Farrington. The police had already taken from the pockets a bank book showing $1,000 deposits.

The two sisters and Farrington left for the office of the Coroner and District Attorney to take steps to have the body disinterred. They say they will fight the case with the insurance companies.

The body was later disinterred and taken to the Morgue, awaiting the action of the sisters and Farrington for burial under the correct name and was taken to the relatives until they could be taken out of letters of administration.

PROPOSES EXTERMINATION OF THE "DEFIANT" MOROS.

Col. Baldwin Says That's the Only Method of Restoring Order in Mindanao.

MANILA, May 29.—Col. Frank D. Baldwin, of the Fourth United States Infantry, has telegraphed to Brigadier-General George W. Davis, in command of the United States troops in the island of Mindanao, that he does not expect to establish satisfactory peace conditions in the Lake Lano district until the defiant element is wiped out.

The natives pretending to be friendly are urging that this be done, as their own lives are in jeopardy.
"which we," the colonel adds, "are in the highest sense under obligations to protect."

"The defiant element," continues Col. Baldwin, "respect nothing but power, and the sword. They will destroy humans until destroyed themselves."

Gen. Davis replied that to meet the emergency in the way suggested would necessitate the capture of every fort by admitting the troops as friends, which was forbidden under existing orders.

HOLD PHILIPPINES,
SAYS SEN. MORGAN.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Lodge (Mass.) in charge of the Philippine Government bill, offered an amendment extending to the inhabitants the "bill of rights" of the Constitution of the United States except the right to bear arms and the right of a trial by jury.

In answer to a query by Mr. Pettus (Ala.) Mr. Lodge explained that in the opinion of the majority of the Committee on Philippines it would be unwise in the present circumstances to extend those rights to the Filipinos.

The amendment was agreed to.
Mr. Morgan (Ala.) addressed the Senate upon the bill. He cordially approved the general purposes of the measure which, he said, was a decided improvement upon present conditions.

Division in the councils in this country, he believed, kept the bolomen and ladrones in the field.

"I excuse those who now see a fatal mistake," continued Mr. Morgan, "in the policy of the peace treaty; I still excuse them for now trying to repeal that concession when we know that the success of such an effort would throw the Filipino people back into the arms of Spain, whose tyrannies have made them her unforfeited enemies."

To have crowned such a war, waged by the United States, with a peace treaty which would have thrown the Filipino people back into the arms of Spain, whose tyrannies have made them her unforfeited enemies, would have been a disgrace to the United States.

RICH WOMAN ADMITS BEATING CHILD.

Pleaded Guilty to Charge and Does Not Deny She Suspended Sardin Can from Child's Neck.

(Special to The Evening World.)

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 29.—Mrs.
Daniel Van Winkle, the wife of a wealthy Hackensack farmer, was fined $9 to-day by Justice Cumming after she had pleaded guilty to beating an adopted child, Lizzie Hooper, twelve years old, and for hanging an empty sardine-can around the girl's neck for a week because she helped herself to the sardines. Sentence was practically suspended by the court, but the Justice insisted on her paying the costs of the hearing.

The farmer's wife was summoned to court on the complaint of James Bratt, chief agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. To the Court the society had been called.

"This girl appeared at my house one night last week, having walked all the way from Teanack in order, she said, to escape from Mrs. Winkle. The child told me that because she had failed to learn a lesson Mrs. Van Winkle beat her over the head, face, back and arms with a thick stick. I took her to Dr.
Conrad, who found bruises."

"I sent for Mrs. Van Winkle, and in the presence of Dr. Conrad she admitted having beaten the girl. Mrs. Van Winkle also admitted to us that when Lizzie helped herself to a can of sardines she tied the can to a string and hung it around the girl's neck, forcing her to carry it in this manner for a whole week."

Mrs. Van Winkle is a member of the First Reformed Church of Hackensack.
She got the child from a Brooklyn orphage.

Gen. Buencamino
PRAISES OUR ARMY.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Gen. Felipe Buencamino of Manila, formerly Aguinaldo's Secretary of War, called on the President to-day in company with Secretary Root.

Gen. Buencamino was taken prisoner by the United States troops at the time Aguinaldo's mother was captured, and since that time has been at the head of the federal Filipino party.

He told the President to-day that his mission to Washington was to correct some of the false reports that have been put in circulation with a view to discrediting the work of both the civil government under Judge Taft and the army.

The civil government, he told the President, was doing a really wonderful work for good in the islands and it had been ably seconded by the army.
The stories of cruelties perpetrated by our soldiers, he said, were either untrue or greatly exaggerated.

As a policeman, he said, Judge Taft, for he has never once deceived him, and they know him to be their friend, and the General will appear before the Philippine Committee of the Senate within the next few days.

Announcement

Regarding the

$1,000 Name Contest

And the Opening of "Brooklyn's Future Harlem"

(TEMPORARY NAME.)

We wish to express our hearty thanks to all who have contributed toward naming the new property. The lists closed last Monday night, and thousands of suggestions from all over the country have been received. These are now being tabulated and prepared for the judges' examination and decision. Owing to the immense number of names, and the fact that the judges (Comptroller Grout, President Bailey and President Greatsinger) are extremely busy men, the decision can hardly be expected inside of 60 days, but announcement will be made when the work is completed.

To those who have sent names we would also emphasize the fact that the prize may mean $1,200 or $2,000 to them if the visit or purchase is made before the judges' decision is announced, and not necessarily before the name was sent in. We trust this fact, and the interest manifested, will lead all contestants who have not yet visited the property to do so at once, and that they will recognize how great an opportunity is offered to those of even moderate means to secure a home in the finest residential section of Brooklyn, and an investment as sure to increase rapidly and enormously as New York is to grow.

That this latter fact is being more and more appreciated, has been shown by the advance sales and opening day demand. Never before have so large a percentage of visitors to our openings purchased, nor more eagerly. On Ocean avenue, lots were evidently considered so cheap, and were bought up so rapidly, that on Saturday last we were obliged to raise the price of all remaining lots on that avenue 25 per cent., and prohibit their sale to any who will not build within 90 days houses costing at least $5,000. This is one illustration of what the public thinks of some of the bargains at Brooklyn's "Harlem."

And remember, we are offering $50,000 in prizes to immediate builders, a 3-cent carfare to early residents, non-forfeiture and life insurance agreements, a guaranteed 25 per cent. increase within a year or money back with 6 per cent. interest; that we are making the most magnificent improvements free; that the property is desirably restricted and amply provided with transportation.

Come Decoration Day and See for Yourself!

Take Brighton Beach Elevated at Park Row, N. Y.; ride 30 minutes—5c. fare—and get off at Kings Highway station on the property. Other ways to get there: Smith Street, Ocean Avenue, DeKalb and Franklin Avenues, Flatbush Avenue and Nostrand Avenue Trolleys (Brighton Beach Division). We pay your fares there and back.
